

County Faces Bldg. Problem

Lovells Winter Playland Being Greatly Improved

Lots of work has been done and is being done by the community, and necessitated by Lovells Community who are property owners in and around the vicinity of town. The Lovells Committee, Skaggs, Mr. William T. Knight, president, Mr. Mac McConnell, vice president, Mrs. Bill Poorman, secretary and Mr. Bill Poorman, treasurer, were to thank each for their hard work and are going to do more.

The warming house is being improved to a point inside.

A new novelty barrel have been made and set up.

The Natureland unit of Upper Peninsula were kind enough to do some building on the slopes, which was great improvement.

At the present time electricity has been applied for and promised for the coming season. Therefore we are converting all our lights from gas operation to electricity, giving much better service to the skiers.

A spot has been cleared to flood ice skating pond and a 4-inch well has been drilled. Plans have been made to serve hot drinks, sandwiches, soup and pop this season. All the hard work is improving each year and we wish to again thank all who have helped to make this possible.

As one person alone cannot build a project of this kind, we need the cooperation of all. It is not our aim to make money but to help the people to Crawford County by having the things like winter sports, hunting, fishing, etc., the people want so they will enjoy our county and stay in our county and help our resort owners stay in business.

On October 13th at the Town Hall in Lovells, the Lovells Winter Sports group will be holding their annual meeting from 5 to 7 in the evening. There will be a feature after party. The dinner is to raise money to pay for the new well and electricity. The public is invited to attend. You can enjoy an expensive dinner, only $1.50.

CUB SCOUT NOTICE

The first fall Cub Scout Pack meeting will be held this Friday, October 26th, at 7 p. m. in the Eichelton Memorial church base- ment. All Cub Scouts are urged to attend with their parents. Any mothers wishing to become Den Mothers are invited to the meeting, also any boy from 8 to 11 not already a Cub Scout who is interested in joining.

There has been a program of films and games planned for the evening.

Supervisors Forced To Act

Based on rumors from the musky corners of the Crawford County Court House, the new construction boom, which up to now has been restricted to private homes and business and civic enterprises, will soon spread to public buildings.

If Crawford County must transport its prisoners, due to condemnation of the jail, it is anticipated that additional tax revenues will be necessary for county operation. This can only come from new taxes or by allocation of taxes now going to the school system for county operation.

In addition to the necessity of building a new jail, the county has a pressing need for a library building and will soon be required to take some action to improve or rebuild the county home for the aged.

Through this newspaper, the respective township and city supervisors that make up the County Board will endeavor to keep the taxpayers of the county abreast of progress being made in regard to these problems. The jail, being the most critical issue at present, will be the subject of another news release next week.

Hold Industrial Development Meet At Grayling Next Tuesday

Why two Detroit men decided to stay for the site of the Bear Archery Company plant will be explained at an industrial development workshop here September 30.

Reasons for the selection will be explained by Fred Bear, partner in the company which is the nation's foremost manufacturer of archery equipment.

"The workshop should be most beneficial to representatives of smaller communities in this area," said Robert Hayes, secretary-manager of the Crawford County Chamber of Commerce. "The explanation of why the Bear Company chose Grayling for its plant should show other communities how they can attract new industry and should afford encouragement in their industrial development programs.

Fall and winter workshop programs of the department will open with the Grayling session. The format of the workshops has been changed for this new series and the material has been upgraded to meet changing conditions. For the first time, an enlisted committee of the program at Monday night's meeting of the club held at Shoppenga Inn.

J. M. D. C. Plans Local Program Of Development

A community development program embracing various phases of economic activity to be carried out at the local level through self-help was planned last Friday at Cheboygan at the annual meeting of the Northern Michigan Development Council in the Pierre Room.

In an effort to make the new program as beneficial as possible for Northern Michigan communities the Council plans to invite three Colleges to act as co-sponsors. They include Central Michigan College, Northwestern Michigan College and Alpena Community College.

While the N.M.D.C. Council's primary responsibility is in the field of area development, it was pointed out at the meeting here last Friday that its services are available to local communities which have need of them.

The community development program is expected to get under way in November. Meanwhile the program will be documented by the Council's executive committee.

The study of sub-surface natural resources will also be made during the coming year, it was decided at the meeting.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected at the annual meeting yesterday. They include:

Myrt Riggs, Cheboygan — President.

Les Biederman, Traverse City — Vice President.

Dr. Charles L. Ansbach, Mt. Pleasant — Secretary.

Hans Osterhart, Fremont — Treasurer.

Don Setterbo, Mt. Pleasant — Asst. Sec'y.

Organized three years ago to assist in the economic development of Northern Michigan, the Council has sponsored several area meetings each year at central locations with attendance ranging from 150 to 700 present at the various meetings. Assistance was provided at each by means of resource speakers, exhibits and demonstrations. Brochures of all resource talks were made following the meetings and mailed to all who attended.

Subjects covered in previous area meetings include: Timber products, Arts, Home Industry, Crafts, Agriculture, Industrial, Natural Resources and Transportation.

Extend Health Regulation Over Grayling Township

Particularly important is the action taken by the Grayling Township Board at its September meeting to safeguard the health of township residents through sanitary regulations.

In cooperation with the District Health Dept. No. 1 the ordinance passed several years ago governing the installation of septic tanks dry wells and water systems in Town 20 Range 4 West (the area just west of Grayling) has been extended to include all of Grayling Township. All new installations or changes in old systems in the township now require the own or contractor to obtain a permit or supervisor. This permit will be approved by the District Sanitarian after he has inspected the project.

It is important that builders, plumbers as well as property owners be informed of this since the area includes all of Lake Margrethe and the area from there to the South Branch and violation can mean a fine and/or a jail sentence.

Another matter acted on by the Board was to authorize Mr. Alvin Dason of the Bear Archery Company who is township deputy clerk to register voters at the company office in Grayling. Previously, many who desired to register found it inconvenient since the town hall is not staffed at all times. This service should facilitate registration. The management of Bear Archery Company is commended for their cooperation in making this service possible.

Modern Michigan May Make The City The Basic Form Of Government

MODERN MICHIGAN is in the throes of an almost accidental move to make the city the basic form of government.

Through numerous annexations whole townships are disappearing inside the city limit signs. For better or for worse several metropolitan areas are growing rapidly.

Flint is fighting in the courts to adopt two nearby towns and parts of eight townships; Battle Creek has elaborate annexation plans; Holland is making news with similar ideas.

The Citizens Research Council of Michigan has urged that the four fashionable Grosse Pointe-Grosse Point Woods, Grosse Pointe and Grosse Pointe Park — near Detroit be merged to provide single services at less cost than now.

Supporting and opposition forces have their own valid arguments.

Taxes, of course, are the major issue from the standpoint of every citizen's pocketbook. Annexing to a city area can be quite a tax jolt to either of the groups, but usually the annexed area feels the increase as new or improved services become available.

Local government is centralized by annexation as it wipes out the older basic form of township government. Resentment goes deep in smaller government offices. "But it's silly to have three fire departments when one will do," said Tilden Mason, of the research council.

In preference to annexation, a number of smaller towns and townships are working to consolidate into a new and separate metropolitan or city unit.

Another phase of the problem, most prominent in school districts, is the indebtedness of the annexed and the annexing units.

Cities are generally unwilling to take on the bonded debts of a smaller annexed area. Smaller units are not eager to join bigger areas where the public debt is large and thus help pay it off.

A centralized government in the hands of responsible executives has been a goal of reformers on the state level for years.

The research council's reports and recommendations to the legislature all have pointed the way.

Reformers won a major victory last year when the sharply-divided legislature finally approved a bill to give the governor power to reorganize the administration.

POLITICAL PARTIES are trying to give the Teamsters Union to each other.

The donkey battle started when Teamster Boss James R. Hoffa fell from Democratic grace in 1952. Democrats have since complained that Hoffa wanted to take over their party.

For years, until the 1952 split, the teamsters supported Democrats. Reports show that Hoffa's support still was present for Democrats that year.

Democrats said that Hoffa supported former Republican U. S. Senator Homer Ferguson during his last unsuccessful campaign and lent help to others in the party.

Republicans retorted this year that Wayne County Prosecutor Samuel Olsen and others accepted money for their campaign. Olsen received $11,000.

A Senate committee in Washington cleared the last, showing others in the past few years have partaken of teamster bounty to campaign for election.

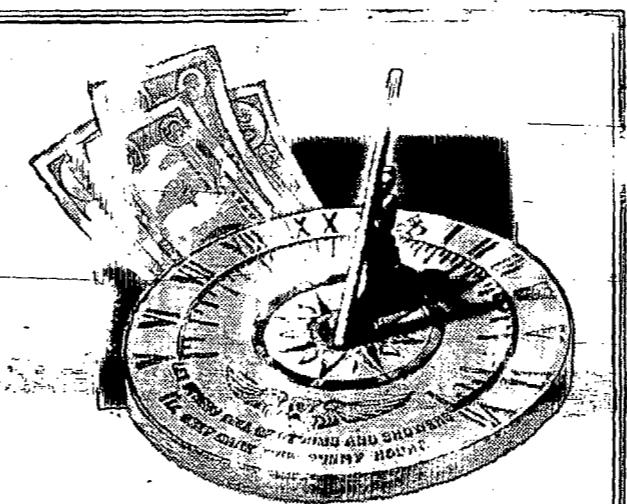

Governor Williams is in support of a resolution at the party convention in Grand Rapids, ordered Democratic candidates to shun Teamster help this year.

Republicans followed the next week with a similar resolution. They also condemned Hoffa's help along with aid from UAW President Walter P. Reuther and other

HOME AGENT'S NOTES

"Consumers Marketing Information Cooperating with County Extension Service"

Fall is harvest time for so much of our fresh fruit and vegetables. It is a season when meat and poultry prices (particularly broilers and fryers) are lower than in the summer; so, we are apt to overlook one of the better food buys. I'm referring to canned foods. Of course, some of us freeze or can all we can use right at home, but the majority of folks depend on commercially canned foods.

There are several reasons why this is a good time of year to stock up on canned goods. There are some "if's" "if you have storage space" "if" your family will eat the canned food when you get it home— "if" you can buy it now more reasonably than later on the years.

Canned goods are usually more reasonably priced when the canning plant is finishing the season's pack. Many smaller plants have no storage facilities. They must move their product before cold weather. As soon as the canned goods go into storage, the cost starts increasing. When you buy a can of beans in January you will have to pay for the original cost of the beans plus the storage costs. The size of the "carry-over" will determine the price. "Carry-over" is the amount left over from last year's pack. If this season's pack is large and of good quality, special merchandising efforts are made to get rid of last year's pack.

Most canned goods come in a variety of different sized cans. If you are really bargain hunting, you'll know what size of can best suits your family. A ten cent can of tomatoes will actually cost you double if you eat only half of it and then eat the other half away. Buy a can which you can eat up at a meal without left overs.

Folks wonder about the comparative food value of canned and fresh products. Because of the speed and improved methods of the canning process, very little food value is lost in commercial canning. In fact, commercially canned food often retains more of the original food value of a product than does home canning. But often we lose or destroy that food value. And most serious offense is to pour the juice down the drain. This happens too often when using canned vegetables. The liquid contains much of the vitamin and mineral value of the product.

Canned foods can be a bargain at this time of the year—if you have storage space, if your family enjoys eating the product, and if you buy in a size to fit your family appetites.

Canned foods are apt to cost less right now. Storage charges have not been added to the cost of the product and because of the carry-over from last year. Many retailers feature case lot specials because smaller plants must move their product before cold weather. It may pay off for you to watch for fall canned food specials.

What Happens To A $10 Bill . . .

ham Store Age tells what happens to a $10 bill a few cents when she goes grocery shopping in a local chain store. The breakdown covers 50 classifications of varying importance—beverages, vegetables, foods, bakery goods, soap and cleaners, and so on so on.

All in all, $7.94 out of that $10 bill goes to the manufacturers and farmers who provide the goods the chains are selling. Then $1.77 goes to pay for the store, the land and the overhead. Taxes take 15 cents.

A little simple arithmetic shows that a mere 14 cents now left. This is the profit—the amount the owners are able to keep. It comes out to just 1.4 cents on the dollar.

This is mass distribution at work. It is based on a principle that many thought unsound and doomed to failure when it was first tried, but is proven today—retail stores can make a satisfactory total profit by selling a huge amount of goods at extremely small unit profits.

Mass distribution, of course, isn't limited to foods. It's found in all other important fields of chain retailing, the principal is identical in all cases. Stores, which deal with style trends, seasonal merchandise, slow-moving inventories and other such problems, earn a larger percentage per sale. But, generally speaking, it's limited to a few cents on the consumer dollar.

You can't blame retail profits for the high cost of living.

Your Money" . . .

The Portland Oregonian prints a letter from a reader which offers an interesting suggestion. He proposes that we stop the "silly practice" of referring to the financing of projects with "government money" or "Federal funds" as though it was manna from heaven."

Instead, he thinks, we should start calling such financing by its right name—that is "your money" or "taxpayers' funds."

There is a world of merit in this idea. A great many people, apparently, don't relate "Federal funds" or "government money" to the state of their own pocketbooks. They don't realize that every cent must be paid one way or another by the taxpayers of today and of generations to come. And that term "taxpayers" includes everyone in the country. Even people in so low an income bracket that they pay no direct taxes, must pay hidden taxes every time they buy an article or a service.

The widespread use of such a term as "your money" would be a tremendous help in correcting this sad situation. We'd think twice if we really understood that we must pay a part of the cost of everything government does—whereas now we only think once or don't think at all.

At any rate, keep it in mind next time you read about government spending. It's "your money"—billions upon billions of it, collected in taxes.

Dressed in blue denim overalls, jackets and hats, the Legion drum and bugle corps went to Mt. Pleasant, yesterday to take in the state's first oil and gas exposition that is being held this week. A chimney fire at Mercy hospital at 8:45 Monday morning was so hot that it practically damaged the entire chimney. Soot accumulations from their oil burner was on fire and soon the shaft was a raging furnace, with fire shooting out of the top and smoke pouring out between the brick even down to the bottom tiers of the 50 foot structure. Fire Chief Oliver Cody condemned the chimney for further use and now it will be necessary to take it down and rebuild a new one. This will cost about $250.00. The Palmer Fire Insurance Agency and Sales Agency's companies carry the insurance and the former agency, by using the phone, had an adjuster on the job the same day and it is expected that the loss will be taken care of promptly. Contractors say it will take a month to rebuild the shaft properly.

Want to keep politics clean?

DON'T PASS THE BUCK —
GIVE A BUCK to the party of your choice!

I'm a comedian. I know how easy it is to get a laugh with a political joke. But politics isn't really a laughing matter. Clean politics and the best candidates mean a better life for every one of us. And your dollar may be as important as your vote when it comes to making sure that good candidates are nominated and elected. That's why I'm contributing. That's why I'm voting. That's why I hope you will, too.
